Program - 9:30AM – 11:30AM

“Solutions Oriented Methods for Helping Re-enter the Workforce”

This program will focus on solution-oriented approaches to accommodations for people with physical, sensory, and/or emotional disabilities beginning with problem definition. During this presentation, we will walk through 4 case studies using an assessment process that is structured into sets of continuous improvement solutions.

Objectives:

1. To introduce several interactive assessment tools
2. To demonstrate a plan that helps you to motivate and keep clients motivated for change

Solutions are more successful when you plan, implement, evaluate and rebound into positive outcomes.

Presenters: Dr Deborah Kearney – developer of the Job Smart System. With 25 years experience in the field, she helps organizations meet compliance with fair employment law practices, PSHA and their productivity, safety and quality goals. International Facility Management Association named her distinguished author for her book on Americans with Disabilities Act. She is known for her organizational and ergonomic design work in hospitals, manufacturing and service industries.

Moderator: Patty Epps
